sign of 1111.Today can change a lot in the fate of people and countries. Well, the thing is, this is a very interesting topic, and we haven't explored it with you yet. This is the first time we'll be touching on it, namely the influence of magic numbers on the activation of power in time.The fact is that in many religions of the world, God manifests himself not only in some sacred statues, stones, icons, but also in letters and numbers. This is also a manifestation of God. And therefore, in most religions of the world, their languages, numerical languages are the same, and numbers mean the same thing.So, if we take the magic of numbers from any spiritual teaching, it is 11. And in this 11thof November, there are also 11 hours and 11 minutes.That is, 111,111. Yes.Eight ones. The number eight is the most interesting because the number eight i s the very star Alatyr, the very star Chintamani, the very sign of the absolute in many religions of the world. It is a sign of the great spirit in shamanism.It is the sign of the philosopher's stone of alchemists. And even the Almightyis called the star of the worlds in many religions.

For example, in ancient Egyptian religion, it was Pharaoh Akhenaten who called it the star of the worlds. Thus, the eight-pointed star is considered a symbol of the absolute. And that is why, for example, Indian mandir temples, some Muslim mosques, Zoroastrian temples, and some Slavic shrines are built in the shape of an octagon, that is, a figure with eight corners. Therefore, it is a symbol of the absolute. And this symbol of the absolute, eight units, is repeated in the date. Therefore, it is believed that at this very moment, you can make any wish, and the higher powers will hear it, so tomorrow many people on earth will turn to the higher powers for help in fulfilling their wishes. It should be like an impulse, like meditation. And this must be done on 1111 1111. That's the first thing. Secondly, the number 11 in numerology also symbolizes white magic, when a person masters the forces within themselves and can use these forces to achieve something in life. That is, white magic. White magic is repeated four times. And we know that four is the number of earthly elements. Four elements, and on each element the number 11, the power of the spirit, the power of white magic. That is why all kinds of practices were performed. All kinds of practices are performed on this day, well, constantly, every year by various esoteric scholars. And another interesting thing is that if we take theosophy, if we take hermeticism, if we take Gnosticism and such spiritual teachings, which still exist throughout the world, they believe that the combination of numbers can turn any day into a day of power.

They believe that on certain days, the forces are always 01, the second 02, the third 03404.5 06 11 and 121. That is, 12 times a year, it is believed that this combination of numbers activates the power of time. And that is why on these days they perform rituals, meditations, or hold some kind of solemn events related to the activities of mystical societies. Tomorrow, on the 1111th, this will still be the case. Therefore, dear viewers, do not miss this day, because, first of all, you will send your wishes into the universe. And secondly, you can use this day for rituals, because all rituals will be very effective. Personally, those rituals that are commonly attributed to White May. Mr. Igor, please tell us, considering our year 2025, what is the significance of tomorrow's date for Ukraine? Well, 2025 is a nine if you add up all the digits. And nine is the number of the Great Mother. That is, it is an interaction with the female aspect of divine energies, that is, with the goddess, the mine, the pra-la, and so on. Yes. We now see that we have many such tragic moments in the life of Ukraine. This includes the current situation in the Kharkiv and Donetsk regions, the shelling of critical infrastructure, the very difficult mood among the population, and the very difficult economic situation. Why is it that right now, when we have such sacred dates or such momentous events, when the cameras are rolling, the energy of the day begins to trigger people as much as possible and accumulate many difficult situations in people's lives? That's right. Let's take a look. If we look at it from a philosophical point of view, let's take a clock.

In order for the clock to work for a long time, they take it and first wind it up. What do they do? They compress the spring. They compress it. And then, when it is compressed to the maximum, they leave it alone, and it starts to unwind on its own. And then the clock starts to work well. Well, or have you seen those model toys, like toy trains for children, where you wind them up with a key and then let go and they run? That is, in order for us to develop our spiritual potential, to have a powerful vector of development for many years, and perhaps not only years, but centuries and centuries ahead, we must first compress, and then expand. Remember how it is in alchemy: “Compress, release, compress, release.” Well, any alchemical process is coagulosolve, right? And it is constantly present in nature. For example, the same yin and yang. Our heart beats for two seconds, rests for two seconds, beats for two seconds, rests for two seconds. That is, yin and yang alternate. And so the heart beats and the wheel of being also turns, because these periods change each other, spread each other, help each other. And we are going through this period of contraction. And you see, this period of contraction also affects our energy like darkness. Many people are disconnected from the light. We are plunging into darkness. Most people psychologically perceive this as the end of the world. Everything has been destroyed, so why live? Complete darkness, no prospects. That is, like a small sphere, but ancient peoples have many interesting rituals. I, by the way, took part in them.

For example, in Mexico there are huge underground caves. When you go inside, it is completely dark. It's not like here, where you can go outside and see a streetlight or the moon shining in the sky. It's not darkness, it's just a slight dimness. But underground, there is real darkness, where there is no light at all, there cannot be. And it is there that you realize that you are dissolving in this darkness. By the way, if you invite any modern person to such an underground cave, they will start having problems after just two hours in the cave, because there will be no everyday life, well, their sense of time and space will be destroyed, they will not be able to orient themselves, they will not be able to understand their geographical position, their spatial position. What time is it now, day or night? And a person simply loses themselves. Some people start having visions after that. But what are these visions? It is our subconscious, taking advantage of the moment, all the problems that a person has. Some unresolved fears, some stress, memories of some unpleasant situations in a previous life. All this comes up so that you can let it go, work through it, and then you can put a plan in place to implement some of your projects. And this plan will also go into this darkness. And after you leave this cave, it will all come true. Ancient peoples had a ritual, and it still remains today. Today, I read the works of archaeologists who are researching the Carpathians. Well, in the Carpathians, in the Chornogora ridge, there are several caves.

Well, and not only in the Chornogora mountain range, but also in caves, like the Mexican ones I just mentioned. That is, people went into the cave in the evening and imitated their death. They entered the cave, into the primordial darkness, where there was nothing, and there they died and dissolved into the primordial darkness. For some time, they felt completely dissolved in space. That is, in the same primordial goddess from whom all material worlds in all world structures began. And after that, they were born there, reborn, and came out of the cave into the light. That is, it was an initiation of death and birth. And an old, frail person who understood nothing, confused, entered this cave and came out newborn, strong. She understood what she wanted, what she could do. She was in unity with the universe and already had some plans that needed to be made. And so it seems that some forces have plunged us into this state so that we can be reborn in this way. That is, there is no need to be afraid of this. At first, we panic. Well, that's the law of psychology. Any person panics when they don't understand something, or when their perception stereotype changes. Their stereotype changes over the course of three days, and then the person rebuilds themselves and is reborn. And everything around me has changed so much that I don't know what my project is, what I need to do, what I can do, how I will achieve it, and I start doing something and achieve it. And here we are, like nature itself, going through such an immersion in the evening. And this should not be perceived as panic. Or some people say, “Oh, the lights are out.” .."That's it, I have to go into the forest and throw myself into the well." No, you don't have to throw yourself into the well, because YOU ARE a leader, and we are leaders, strong people, any leader uses any situation for their own growth. This is the law of evolution. That is, we have to think about how we can use this situation to become stronger and smarter. That is, it is a challenge for us, as warriors of the spirit, as warriors of strength, to become stronger and overcome this situation. First within ourselves, and once we overcome it within ourselves, it will be reflected in external events. Yes. Mr. Igor, so have I understood correctly that circumstances have now unfolded karmically in such a way that we, as a state, must plunge into darkness in order to be reborn from this darkness. Is that right? Well, nature itself is leading us through this rite. That is, the events that have taken place in the material world have already happened. Unfortunately, we cannot change them because some things have already happened, but we can use them for our own growth and the growth of our strength. Yes. And then we can change, we can change. Here, Mr. Igor, is a question from Ms. Tetyana, our viewer.

Please tell us, Mr. Igor, does tomorrow's food affect a person's spiritual development? Meat lowers vibrations, and what ritual can be performed tomorrow? Please advise. Well, first of all, it's a Vedic tradition, it, well, how can I put it, Christianity has a clear position on this. For example, a woman must wear a headscarf, she must light a candle in church. She must do this, she must not do that. She must look like this, she must not look like that. And this stereotype is forcibly imposed on everyone. The Vedic tradition is not like that. If we open the Vedic tradition, we will see that in India, where there is a lot of milk and dairy products, where there is a lot of cheese, vegetables, fruits, even fruits that grow there, both in the south and in the north, that most of us have never even seen, such as Arura and Parura, for example. We only know the names, we have never even seen them. There, people have the opportunity to eat vegetables and fruits. But if, for example, there are peoples living in the north, where there is nothing but fish and animals that live in the snow, then they have to eat something.

And when such questions were asked of the Vedic sages, they said that it is permissible to eat fish and deer, because a person must survive and fulfill the mission given to him by God.But in this case, you must offer food to Lord Shiva before eating it, because Lord Shiva's power can transform any heavy vibrations into ones that are beneficial to you. That is, offer food to the Almighty and eat whatever you want, because this world is an illusion. Just like your physical body. And when an illusion eats an illusion, it does not affect the spirit in any way. The spirit is God, Adi Brahman, Ee, the primordial, the primordial Atman. Everything else depends on Atman and exists thanks to the very energies that Atman radiates. And in ancient European religions, it is also the same. Spirit moves matter.

Therefore, it does not matter what you eat if you have a good relationship with the Almighty and if you offer food. That is, the question of who eats what is, well, an attempt to quarrel with people. You eat carrots, but you cannot eat carrots, you have to eat garlic. Someone tells me that garlic is bad, you have to eat carrots. And so it begins. One person wants to eat garlic, another doesn't. One person wants to eat carrots, another doesn't. And so battles begin in society, which not only do not bring people closer to the title of Human with a capital letter, but do not even bring them closer to the Almighty. These are demons trying to quarrel people so that they attack each other for any idiotic reason. Therefore, such questions, there were good vibrations, bad vibrations, what you can eat, what you cannot. The Vedic tradition allows everything. As long as you obey the law of the Almighty, please choose and do not impose your point of view on others. Regarding the rituals that can be performed on the 11th, we will return to this topic in literally 20 minutes, because I want to talk more about Mercury retrograde, about misinformation, about what is happening in the sky right now, about the observations of astrologers and astronomers, about what this sacred moment is, and what we should be paying attention to right now.

After all, there is a very important period between Yule and the winter solstice. Please tell us about it. Yes, we are in a very important period. Before we begin, I will say a few words about what has happened. You have already seen publications on the Internet, a lot of data has been published, from geophysical observatories, where it has been recorded that starting from October 30, the energy characteristics of all electromagnetic processes on Earth began to increase. For example, the Schumann resonance rose to a very high number. I am also asked what this Schumann resonance is. To explain, there are always lightning and thunderstorms on Earth. And when there is a thunderstorm, lightning gives off an electromagnetic pulse, and since there are millions of lightning strikes all over the Earth, these pulses merge and give off what is called the Schumann frequency.

It has remained unchanged for centuries, and only since about 2011 has it begun to increase. And before the storm or the Veles-Balkhvin storm, it grew to an incredible magnitude this year. And none of the scientists could understand what was happening. That is, scientists still cannot give us an answer as to why this happened. By the way, there was no solar activity at that time, not even a strong magnetic storm. And on November 4, something interesting happened, you see, it's all these electromagnetic processes, they resemble a human pulse. Just like on a cardiogram, there is a flat line, then a spike, then a flat line again, then another spike. And so it goes, just like on a cardiogram. This line, which records energy surges, went flat, just like in some kind of cosmic creature. The heart stopped for a whole day, and then started beating again. And no one can explain what happened either. And then, on Saturday and Sunday, a huge magnetic storm with an SM index covered the earth. This is one of the big ones, but it's solar activity.

And before that, no one could understand. And another interesting thing. The last comet, which, by the way, will come closest to Earth on December 19, three days before the winter solstice. It will come close to Earth. So, after the comet passed through the perihelion, it was recorded that it emits electromagnetic pulses. It emits an electromagnetic pulse approximately once every 3 minutes. This can be seen from the observatory data. But what is interesting is that something on Earth in the Antarctic region during this same period, that is, around November 3-4, also began to emit electromagnetic pulses every 3 minutes. And now they are no longer being recorded. Scientists researching Antarctica do not understand what this is, why the electromagnetic pulses emitted by the comet coincide with the pulses coming from under the ice in Antarctica.

This is another mystery for both scientists and esotericists. But what we didn't talk about last time is that this comet appeared, well, visible in the starry sky. It could be seen. And if a person had poor eyesight, then everyone could see it with binoculars. Before the perihelion, it became visible on October 27. That is, some communities are reviving the ancient Slavic faith. On this day, they celebrate the autumn elders. Then, three days before Veles' night. And before Veles' night itself, the perihelion passed. And then it will approach the earth on December 19, three days before the winter solstice. Here, three days with the sun, and there, three days with the earth. But few people know that we live in the Milky Way galaxy. Yes. It is the center of the galaxy. The center of our galaxy is located in the constellation Sagittarius, near the star that astronomers call Sagittarius. And so, on December 18 and 19 of each year, for an observer from above the earth, the sun connects with the center of the galaxy. Uh-huh. And that is why on this day, the ancient Slavs, before Christianity, celebrated the day of Veles and the day of the goddess Vala. Veles, as the lord of fertility, and Vala, the goddess of fertility, were celebrated on the 19th, three days before the winter solstice. And on the 19th, the comet will come closest to our Earth.

The distance between the Earth and the comet will be the closest. It will be very interesting. And this process continues. And what does it lead to? You know that Velesanich, or Sanhein, or Halloween, has one principle. The gate between the worlds opens and the soul of nature departs from us to other worlds in order to be reborn in the spring, to return. And after the soul of nature leaves us, the universe begins to sink into darkness and collapse. And on December 21, the universe and the sun are supposed to collapse, and the greatest night will come, which is a manifestation of the great mother of darkness, the great darkness. And on this very night, the old universe is destroyed and a new one is created. And on the morning of the 22nd, a new sun rises. That is, this immersion in darkness, you see, happened during these four comets, and we are also immersed in darkness at this moment.

Such a coincidence. Uh-huh. Mr. Igor, please tell us, nature is also reacting in a very special way right now. We talked about how comets flying towards the earth activate the elements. We see that the element of air has been activated, the element of water has been activated. Now there are problems with water everywhere. And it is interesting that the elements have been activated not only by natural factors, but also by human activity. Fire has been activated by human activity, and it is not only volcanoes that are awakening. And the element of earth remains. So, should we expect any disasters in the near future that could change the situation in the world? Well, there could be earthquakes, because this is the only element that has not yet been activated. Yes. But, by the way, there have already been some local earthquakes in Turkey, there and nearby, and in the Middle East, and in Afghanistan.

That is, now the earth will have its say. All the comets have already passed the perihelion. They have all passed the perihelion. And they are already moving away from the sun. That is, they have already opened the portal, as astrologers say.They have opened all four portals, and they are moving away from us. We said that comets have triggered certain events on Earth for the next 50-100 years. They will develop from the very beginnings that were laid down this October. Uh-huh. And now Mercury is retrograde. People are afraid of Mercury retrograde. They say that, well, really, the thing is that if you take ancient astrological systems, such as ancient Egyptian, ancient Babylonian, the same Jyotish and many others, they do not recognize such new, eh, planets discovered in the 20th century, such as Neptune, Pluto, eh, Uranus. They operated with seven planets, so there are seven spheres in them. And each planet rules its own sphere. At that time, it was believed that the planet closest to us, and therefore the first planet, if measured from Earth to the planet, if souls were incarnated, they flew in from deep space, as it was believed, first taking the power of Saturn, then Jupiter, then the power of Mars, then the power of our star, the Sun, then Mercury, Venus, the Moon, and descended to Earth and back again. And so each planet ruled its own sphere. Mercury's sphere is everything that moves.

That is, what moves in our world? The Internet, ships at sea, trains, mail, customs, wind, flying airplanes. Everything that moves is Mercury, and everything that does not move, fields, trees, crops, is Venus. So, when Mercury can move directly, that is, the transmission of information is correct and everything moves well, or retrograde, then everything moves in the opposite direction, not in the right direction. And that's why everyone is afraid that there will be some kind of problem. Yes. And most of all, astrologers are faced with the fact that if a person has Mercury retrograde in their natal chart at birth, then throughout their life they are unable to use the transmission of information correctly. But there is a way out, because in the past, not everyone was just an astrologer. There is a great triad: magic, astrology, alchemy. If astrology shows a problem, magic or alchemy can fix it. So, there are spirits of the planets, gods of the planets, and in Christianity there are guardian angels of the planets.For example, the spirit of Mercury is Aphiell. If you summon the spirit of Aphiell and ask him to put all his power into the talisman of Mercury, he will put all his power into it. And after that, we release him from the magic circle, and then this amulet will be charged with the energy of the spirit of Mercury. And it will affect a person in the same way as Mercury direct. And you can forget about retrograde and not pay attention to it. Or you can add the power of the deity who rules Mercury.

This is Buddha in Jiochish or the archangel Raphael. Raphael is the archangel of Mercury.You can add these spiritual forces to the talisman and not be afraid of Mercury retrograde. There are also such forces for Venus, Jupiter, and the Moon. That is, everything is corrected. Yes. And we can correct it so that Mercury is direct for us. Well, the easiest thing to do is to keep an eye on yourself so that Mercury, retrograde Mercury, does not affect us. Because if you keep an eye on yourself and don't make mistakes, then it won't. What kind of test is this? The universe says, "Well, you say you're smart, you say you're in control of the situation, that you understand everything." Let's see how well you understand everything. Or maybe you understand it this way. Well, here's retrograde Mercury, your examiner, and you failed the exam. Well, let's study or work on ourselves. Something like that. Be careful. That's enough. Or make a talisman to directly have the power of pure Mercury, and it will block the retrograde. On which days should you make talismans for Mercury?

Well, you can do it on any day, but it's best on Wednesday, because Wednesday is Mercury's day. Monday is the moon, Tuesday is Mars, Wednesday is Mercury, Thursday is Jupiter, Friday is Venus, Saturday is Saturn, and Sunday is the Sun. Um, Mr. Igor, I would like to repeat Mr. Igor's question from Larisa Rubanova. She asked very politely. Ms. Larisa, I'm looking for your question. Just a moment. Just a moment. Ms. Larisa asked what energies are currently at work in southern Ukraine. And the date of liberation, uh, of Kherson was 1111. This is a very sacred date. And what books should one read to learn about the pantheon of Ukrainian battles? Well, I will answer about the books. I will prepare for this question today so that I can give a complete analysis, because in a few words we will not have time to go through the whole encyclopedia, you understand?

But, for example, if we take religious studies, because religious scholars compare, for example, the Vedic tradition of India with what Ukrainians believed during their Vedic period, they say that they equate the god of the clan with the Almighty, equating the god of the clan with Adibrahman. Well, Brahma, Vishnu, and Shiva are Rod, Svarog, and Veles. Moreover, they identify Shiva with Veles, and Svarog with Vishnu. Yes. Well, there are many, well, the functions of the deities are almost the same. And even the names of many deities are the same. For example, Surya. Surya is the god of the sun, both in Hinduism and among the ancient Slavs. And there are many gods who have the same name here and there. Well, for example, we have the island of Indra. On the Dnieper, another name for the ancient deity is Indra. He is the god of lightning and thunder. And the same Indra in India is the god of lightning and thunder.

This indicates that the Indian and Ukrainian Vedic traditions are almost identical. That is, our magicians knew that everything here would disappear, that there would be some kind of catastrophe, some kind of war, and much would be lost. And they carried this tradition to all the countries of the world that they could reach. And they left it there. And now it is returning from all over the world to its historical homeland. Uh-huh. For example, among the Slavic peoples, it is very interesting that in the Bulgarian language, vishnu means "the most high." The word vish means "all cherries." You see, if I read a lot of different Slavic languages, there are many words from Sanskrit and vice versa. Mr. Igor, these are very closely related languages. I watched a video about Mr. Igor's elements. You can use rituals now to protect the territory of Ukraine, turning to the elements of nature for help.

By the way, you can. Eh, this is very, very important. Mr. Igor, you turned around. I was talking about the events in Ukraine. Okay, okay. Well, it's just something with cable internet throughout the city. We're still working, we'll overcome everything. 100%. You see, you are unbreakable. Thank you. Eh, look, we can control the weather. There is a Vedic ritual for that. For that, you need to take a stool and place it on the ground. Put a bowl of water on the stool. Then fold your fingers like this and put them in the water. Yes. Yes. Put your fingers in the water so that they are pointing north, exactly north according to the compass. After that, you can read a mantra to any incarnation of Vishnu. I recommend Venkateshvara. Read Aumshri vnt shvaraya several times and turn inward, explain what threatens us, that people may freeze, that it threatens their lives, and ask for a mild winter so that we can get through it easily. That is, imagine that the earth will be stable and the winter will be mild and warm. And so for about 15 minutes. And if one of our people does it, then the second, third, fourth, all the vectors will be directed in such a way that we will have a mild winter. So, where did we leave off? We will set the weather to the north and read the appeal to Venkateshvara. Omritashvaraga.

And we imagine that winter is mild and warm. Yes. And if every 15 minutes, each of us does this, the impulses will converge and the weather will indeed be normal. And we can influence the weather in such a way that we can endure this land. It can be done. Mr. Igor, I am very grateful to you for your knowledge. Thank you for coming on the air. Regardless, I would like to invite all viewers to write their comments under this video about topics they would like to hear about spiritual development and practices from Mr. Igor. Mr. Igor is ready to share his knowledge very soon. We present to you the date of the next meeting with Mr. Igor Mekhed live in Kyiv, during which you will not only listen to a lecture, but you will immediately practice and immediately feel the result, because Mr. Igor is a very powerful guide. And be sure to follow Mr. Igor's social media accounts. In the video description, where there are three dots, you will find Mr. Igor's Facebook and Instagram pages, where there is a lot of interesting information. If you want to learn about a place of power, please ask in the comments. Mr. Igor, thank you for joining us today. I think we should do a separate episode on planets and solar systems because it's very interesting how to interact with them, how to communicate with them, especially with a planet like Saturn. It's a very important planet, Shani Dev, with a big personality. They knew that Christianity would come. Yes, 100%.
